ANGLO-AMERICA TRADE AGREEMENT

Political Significance

London, November 19.
Newspapers generally give editorial welcome to the announcement in the House of Commons yesterday of the new stage reached in the progress towards the Anglo-American trade agreement. At the same time details of the American trade agreement procedure are explained to show the necessary delays before the final stage of negotiation and agreement can be reached. Most of the writers emphasise the far-reaching political as well as economic significance of the prospective agreement.—British Wireless.

FIRST AID CLASS

We learned from a reliable source last evening that a first aid class, held under the auspices of the Chinese Athletic Association Division, St. John Ambulance Brigade, of which Mr. Lau King-tsing, the well-known local Chinese philanthropist, is Divisional Patron, will be opened on Monday at the Kwong Wah School, Hollywood Road.

When the idea was first mooted it was the aim of the organisers to enrol 160 boys but up to the present over 180 boys have already applied for registration. A number of local doctors are lending their support to this praiseworthy cause by consenting to act as honorary lecturers.

BRITISH SOLDIER KILLED: FIVE WOUNDED

London, Nov. 19: One British soldier was killed and five were wounded in engagements with hostile tribesmen in Waziristan during the past few days. They are all members of the South Wales Borderers. Five Indian soldiers were also wounded.—

SOOCHOW SITUATION

CHAPOO DESTROYED: MILITARY OPERATIONS SHIFT FROM SHANGHAI

Shanghai, November 19: According to Chinese reports on the situation near Soochow to-day, the front running from Fushan to Changshu is still completely in the hands of the Chinese. It is only admitted that Changshu was severely pressed by Japanese troops while the Japanese claim to have captured Changshu early to-day. No mention is made in the Chinese reports about Japanese successes south of Taihu Lake as reported by the Japanese.

With the shifting of military operations from Shanghai to the west, the Japanese are gradually withdrawing their warships from the Whangpoo River and are using them partly for operations on the Yangtse near Fushan and partly in Hangchow Bay.

Japanese warships have been observed on the Yangtse far above Fushan the crews being engaged in removing ships' barriers established by the Chinese. In Hangchow Bay Japanese warships to-day uninterruptedly bombarded almost all the coastal towns. The town of Chapoo is reported to have been almost entirely destroyed. Chinese troops have no longer been stationed at Chapoo so that the Japanese met with no resistance.—Transocean News Service.

Hsinhsiang, Honan, November 19: Chinese soldiers at the front the Peiping-Hankow Railway zone are experiencing their first taste of winter as snow, accompanied by a sharp drop in temperature, is now falling in the fighting areas on the Honan-Hopei border. There has been no serious fighting on the main front during the last few days but minor skirmishes are reported on the right wing where the lines remain unchanged.—Central News.

ANTI-AIR RAID MEASURES

Lectures To Be Held

A communique, issued by the Colonial Secretariat, last evening states:—

"It will be remembered that in April this year Government indicated, in the course of a general statement published in the Press regarding local air raid precautionary measures, its intention of providing public instruction in air raids and anti-gas precaution. Since then Government has had under consideration in detail methods of providing such instruction, and after consultation with the leading firms in the Colony, through and with the kind assistance of the Hong Kong General Chamber of Commerce and the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, a course of nine public lectures details of which are given below has been arranged. GOVERNMENT HOUSE

According to a Press Communique, issued by Government House yesterday, the engagements of His Excellency the Governor and Lady Northcote for the week ending Saturday, November 27, include the attendance, by Lady Northcote, at Miss Violet Capell's Dancing Display at the King's Theatre at 5 p.m. on November 24.

On November 25, 11 a.m., His Excellency is holding the Investiture at Government House and on the following day at 4 p.m., His Excellency and Lady Northcote will be present at the tennis matches at the Hong Kong Cricket Club. In the evening they will be present at the St. Andrew's Dinner and Ball at the Peninsula Hotel.

JAPANESE UNIT WIPED OUT

Shanghai, Nov. 19.

The Asama unit which took a conspicuous part in the Shanghai war was wiped out yesterday when the Chinese forces staged a counter-offensive on Quinsan, Colonel Asama being reported missing. Three other Japanese units also suffered reverses.

A Japanese bomber was brought down in Soochow yesterday by anti-aircraft gun. The Japanese pilot was killed inside the cockpit. It is reported that the Japanese troops who landed at Hangchow Bay and attacked Kashing was transferred from North China.—

"CAN DO!"

THOROUGHLY ENJOYABLE ENTERTAINMENT

"Can Do?"—a very enjoyable concert in aid of the Garrison and Area Welfare, had a tremendously successful first night at the China Fleet Club last night when His Excellency the Governor and Lady Northcote, with party, attended. His Excellency Major-General A. W. Bartholomew, General Officer Commanding and Commodore E. B. C. Dicken were also present as were many naval and military officers and a number of the Colony's leading residents. There were 15 items on the programme and though it was not till almost midnight that the curtain rung, there was not one dull moment throughout the evening. It was entertainment par excellence—and special mention must be made of Major G. M. Church, M.C., R.A., who contributed several items to the programme—all of them drawing rounds of applause. ANGLO-ITALIAN FRIENDSHIP

Celebration Of King Victor Emmanuel's Birthday

The friendship existing between Great Britain and Italy was endorsed at a reception given by the Italian Consul-General, Marquis G. Pagano de Melio, on-board the s.s. Conte Biancamano yesterday in honour of the birthday of His Majesty King Victor Emmanuel of Italy. The reception was postponed from November 11.

There was a large and distinguished gathering present including His Excellency the Governor, Sir Geoffrey Northcote, His Excellency Major-General A. W. Bartholomew, G.O.C. Troops, China, the Hon. the Colonial Secretary, Mr. N. L. Smith, C.M.G., heads of Government departments, Consular representatives, members of the Executive and Legislative Councils.

The first class dancing saloon of the Biancamano which accommodated the gathering was prettily decorated and the guests were personally received by Marquis and Countess de Melio.

After refreshments had been served, the Consul-General addressed the gathering as follows:—
Your Excellency, Ladies and Gentlemen.—It is indeed a great honour for me to be the first representative of the Consular Body to renew our welcome to Your Excellency in the occasion of an official reception. In fact we are celebrating to-day the birthday of our beloved King and Emperor Vittorio Emanuele di Savoia.

China Will Meet Her Obligations

Nanking, Nov. 19.
Figures of revenue receipts of the Chinese Government released by the Ministry of Finance for the months of July, August and September showed little deterioration as a result of the Sino-Japanese hostilities.

Customs receipts for the three months totalled $70,000,000 compared with $68,000,000 for the corresponding period of 1936. The salt revenue, however, showed a decrease of $5,500,000 while the consolidated tax returns also decreased about $5,000,000.

The Ministry stated that if the war continues indefinitely a serious loss of revenue is inevitable.

Dr. H. H. Kung, Minister of Finance, announced that in spite of the Japanese naval blockade of the China coast, which will eventually have a serious effect on the Customs revenue, China will still do her utmost to meet obligations arising from her foreign and domestic loans, while the service on the railway loans will be maintained as usual.—

"China Will Win Out In The End"

In a broadcast talk in Nanking, Mr. Wang Ching-wei, Chairman of the Central Political Committee, said that the significance of the present campaign in North China was already clear to the masses who have knuckled down to their part of the defence of China splendidly. He suggested to them to dig as many trenches around the country as possible because the more trenches are dug the more the enemy would be harassed.

The eminent Chinese statesman said that the enemy thought that in dealing with China they need not exert themselves to achieve their objects but in this respect they were grossly mistaken.

During the last three months, he said, Hsueh, Charhar and Suifu, had fallen into the enemies' hands and he thought that the Japanese idea was to establish in each city a large force, and connect each place by air with their navy as the rear guard. By this means the Japanese hoped to slowly dominate the country but it was very doubtful whether they would succeed.

Mr. Wang Ching-wei concluded by saying that he personally thought that China would win out in the end.

LARCENY BY TRICK

Perpetrators Caught

A clever trick but one which led to the arrest of the perpetrators when they attempted to try it again on the neighbour of their first victim, was revealed by Detective-Sergeant Cushman at the Central Magistracy yesterday when before Mr. R. Edwards he prosecuted Chan Hol, and Lei See with larceny by a trick of a quantity of goods from the Lee Shing Company of Des Voeux Road Central. The articles comprised two dozen singlets, two dozen pairs of woollen stockings, eight dozen handkerchiefs, one and a half dozen razors, and three dozen tubes of tooth paste to the total value of $229.50.

The facts of the case as outlined by the prosecution were that on November 10 first defendant went to the complainant firm and purchased the goods mentioned in the charge. He did not take them at the time but said he would return later. At 2 p.m. the same afternoon he came back and took delivery. He asked that someone be sent with him to an address in Connaught Road West to receive payment. A fooki was accordingly sent with him and they reached house No. 49 where second defendant was waiting. First defendant told the fooki to leave the goods on the pavement and asked second defendant to take the fooki to Ko Shing Street where payment would be made.

This was done and on the way to Ko Shing Street they met a third man, who had not been arrested. This last told the fooki to return to Des Voeux Road where he would receive the money for the stuff. Again the fooki agreed, this time being unaccompanied and when he reached the house in Des Voeux Road to which he had originally been brought, he found that man and goods had both disappeared.

RECOMMENDED FOR BANISHMENT

On November 18, first defendant went to No. 167 Des Voeux Road Central, that is the shop next to that which had been victimised, and began the same procedure of ordering goods. Unfortunately for him the master of the Lee Shing firm had warned the shops in his vicinity and he was recognised by the description given. The complainant was called, identified him, and he was arrested. The second man was arrested the following day but the goods were not recovered.

His Worship sentenced each defendant to three months' hard labour and recommended them for banishment.

FREE FIGHT IN COURT

Convicted Chinese Fined Again

Within a few minutes of being fined for street fighting two Chinese engaged in a scuffle in the first magistrate's court at Ipoh. A further fine of $3 each was imposed upon them.

As the case against them proceeded both accused stood together in the dock smiling at the court in general.

Lim Yong stated that he had ridden in Lean Kah's ricksha and that he had disputed the fare and a fight had resulted.

The magistrate (Mr. L. C. Simpson Gray) fined the accused $2 each.

While the next case was being heard, Lim Yong and Lean Kah again engaged in a scuffle in the court itself. They were subsequently separated by the constables and fine a further $2 each for contempt of court.

IMPERIAL AIRWAYS LINERS

Order For Fast New Type

THE D.H. ALBATROSS

Five of the new Albatross air liners have been ordered by Imperial Airways from the de Havilland Company. This type, designed especially with a view to experiments over the Atlantic, is known to be capable of cruising at more than 200 miles an hour. As it has not yet undergone its official trials for the airworthiness certificate, precise figures of performance are not available. The first of the new liners, with seats for 20 passengers, should be delivered during the spring, says the "Times."

An Albatross may come into the hands of Imperial Airways before that time. Two of these machines were ordered by the Air Ministry when the design was first submitted to meet the Atlantic specification. This required a four-engined aeroplane capable of carrying 1,000lb. of mails a distance of at least 3,000 miles non-stop.

It has been presumed lately that, when these are delivered, the Air Ministry will hand one over to Imperial Airways for use in the experiments relating to the North Atlantic service, and that the other will be entrusted to British Airways for similar use over the South Atlantic. The order of Imperial Airways would appear, therefore, to be unconnected with Atlantic affairs, since an order on that score is unlikely to precede the experiments.

The new machine, built entirely of wood, is one of the most interesting air liners produced in this country. In form it may be regarded as a development of the twin-engine Comet which flew to Australia in less than three days to win the International race of 1934. It has four of the new Gipsy Twelve (450 h.p.) engines set in the leading edge of the low-wing and completely cowled so that their drag is remarkably small. For cooling purposes orifices are let into the wing edge and the air is conducted around the cylinders from there. Variable-pitch airscrews are fitted and the undercarriage is retractable.

MOTOR SUMMONSES

Several cases of breach of traffic regulations were brought before Mr. K. Keen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday.

Mr. E. Humphrey of the Hong Kong and Whampoa Docks was fined $2 for failing to provide a proper seat on his motor cycle while carrying a passenger. He pleaded that it was not his custom to carry passengers but that without a pillion seat the cycle had a proper stand and the footrests.

G. C. Norman, residing at No. 19, Rankow Road, was summonsed for driving at the excessive speed of 28 miles per hour while going through the 20 miles controlled area in Nathan Road on November 1. He pleaded not guilty and stated that he could have been going at the rate stated in the summons because he was aware that a traffic officer was behind. A caution was administered.

Captain S. T. M. Del Court of the Nanking Barracks, was discharged when he pleaded not guilty to the summons for driving at a speed dangerous to the public in Lai-chi-kok Road on October 20. He admitted that he was going at a fairly high speed but he did not consider it as dangerous because there was no traffic in sight.

P. J. J. Neubronner residing at No. 129 Parkes Street, was also discharged on the summons for driving at the excessive speed of 45 miles per hour in Nathan Road on October 28. Defendant stated that the vehicle he was driving was a new one and that he had been warned not to exceed 30 miles per hour.

SHOE CAMPAIGN FOR SOLDIERS

THE GREAT PYRAMID'S PROPHECY

The Age Of Gold And The Golden Age

In an address recently at the Central Hall, Westminster, Mr. David Davidson dealt with current world affairs from the joint standpoint of Biblical and Great Pyramid prophecy. The essential theme of the address was that Divinely revealed prophecy portrayed the emergency of a righteous world order through a universal change in the spirit of man as a consequence of the cataclysmic events of our times. Prophecy showed that these events, in their coming maturity of development, constituted the process of God's Judgment.

The joint standpoint of Biblical and Great Pyramid prophecy is proved by the symbolism which is common to both. In this connection, it is significant that successive stages in the inverted pyramid of modern economic symbolism are the antitheses of successive corresponding stages in the Upright Pyramid of Biblical and Great Pyramid symbolism. In the latter, the apex-stone symbolises our Lord Jesus Christ as "Head" and "Chief Corner Stone" "laid in (heavenly) Zion" as the "sole foundation." He as "Head" is the first stage of the building, and the sequence of symbolic building is from the "Head" downwards. By His limitless Power as Spiritual Magnet He therefore raises up to Himself, first, those "living stones" which form His "Church of the Spirit," which is His Body, "the whole being compactly held together by His 'Upholding' Power. This is the second stage of the building."

"MADE READY"
In the same manner, the third stage is "made ready" for Him, as "the (earthly) Bride" and is drawn up into Him in spiritual Union, as the Theocentric State on earth. The fourth stage is likewise made ready from all races of mankind, and is drawn up to form "a great mountain filling the whole earth." Throughout the building, attraction is not earthwards but is heavenwards, so that the Head, Jesus Christ, is "the sole foundation," "upholding" all things by the Word of His Power" (Heb. 1, 3), in accordance with His promise: "I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto Me" (John xii, 32).

The inverted pyramid of modern economic symbolism, on the other hand, stands balanced on its apex, the apex-stone symbolising the world's gold stock, which, like the golden pillar of the Johannesburg Exhibition of 1936, is symbolically represented as supporting the world. As in the Upright Pyramid, the apex-stone is the sole foundation and is the first stage of building. The second stage of building is supported by the golden apex-stone, and represents the body of currency and credit. The latter, in turn, supports the third stage of building, which represents the administration of (trade, industry, and commerce in symbolic union with the body of currency and credit. In Scriptural symbolism this third stage is referred to as the "wanton" or "harlot" system of mercantile administration, in that it is the antithesis of the symbolic "Bride," representing the perfect human administration in the coming fulness of God's Providence. The "wanton" human system maintains all the kingdoms of the existing world order as the fourth stage of symbolic building.

Mr. Paul suggested that the "have-not" countries were potential allies having similar motivations and a common desire to dominate the world.

Tiring of suffering brought about by the self-interest of elected leaders there would be insistence that the reconstruction of the social structure should be laid on a much more democratic and wiser basis. Machines would begin to perform for man all the tedious labour to which he had been accustomed for so many millenniums. The monetary system based on actual goods and labour would allow for the increase of wealth and leisure as machines became more plentiful and efficient instead of making for unemployment and waste as it would to-day. That would be a Golden Age of culture and leisure for all the wonderful things everyone longed to do but was cramped by the necessity of devoting an absolutely disproportionate time to the mere mechanics of keeping body and soul together.

Mr. Paul concluded with: "Mankind is now passing through a fire where his basest desires will be burnt out. He will be cured of his inhibitions and he will rise again, a little purer to partake of the Golden Age."

CATHOLIC NEWS AND NOTES

UNIQUE MONUMENT TO INVENTOR

A monument is to be built to Marconi on the spot when he first thought of wireless. The place is the Orona Valley in the North of Italy, and it was while staying here that he first conceived the idea. A tablet to commemorate the fact has been placed in the house in which he stayed. The actual monument is to be erected on the Barm d'Orona, a mountain peak 6,800 feet in height, which overlooks the valley. It will consist of a chapel and a hut, and they will be completed by next summer when the formal opening will take place. The scheme is sponsored by an Alpine Association of Biella, in Italy, and the Italian Alpine Club. After Marconi's death, it was proposed to give him burial in one of the national shrines, but he left instructions that he should be buried simply in a monastery outside Biella, and this was done.

THE PASSING OF A GREAT ROMAN

Those who have read Marlon Crawford's Ave Roma Immortalis, which still remains probably the most brilliant guide book in the English language, will remember the glories of the Colonna and Orsini families, which he so often mentions. These two great Roman families trace their ancestry to the ancient days of Roman greatness, and have been connected with the city's history for close on two thousand years. One of the most illustrious of the holders of the Colonna name in recent times died recently, Don Prospero Colonna, head of the younger branch of the House. His son is at present Governor of Rome.

"Don Prospero," as he was always called, was Dean of the Italian Senate, to which he was appointed before 1900. Before that he had been a member of the House of Deputies. He was twice Mayor of Rome, the second time being during the war, when he was called from the front where he was serving as a cavalry officer to take up the post. His administration at this period was brilliant, for it was largely due to him that both profiteering and panic were prevented. Always a loyal Catholic, he took a leading part in bringing around the friendly relations between Church and State which it was purpose of the Lateran Treaty to secure. He was a hero to the Rome populace, and a vast crowd of citizens stood bareheaded in the streets as his remains were brought to their last resting place in the Church of St. Ignatius.

AN AMERICAN NEGRO COMEDIAN

The name Stepin Fetchit appeared on a concert programme in Hong Kong during the last week. It had been the original holder of the name that appeared he would have received a hearty welcome from those who know him from his theatrical and radio performances in the United States as well as from his work in the films. He is at present one of the most popular of negro comedians. His name in Lincoln Perry and in real life he is neither so lazy nor so bulky as he appears on the films. Wherever he goes he is known for the interest which he takes in Catholic activities, especially in connection with the Missions. He makes no secret of the high ideals of his life, and it is now customary for the theatrical people of each town to which he goes to tell him of the nearest church, for they know of his practice of daily attendance at Mass. People who are accustomed to regard a negro's religion as being largely made up of superstition, get a surprise when they meet Stepin Fetchit. He is, incidentally, highly respected in his profession, and he declares that he never felt any discrimination against him because of his colour.

IRISH PEERS
It is not regarded as a crime to be summoned to court for dangerous driving—though some think that it should—and many a peer has faced such a charge. Recently the premier Irish Viscount, Lord Gormanston, was fined on this charge. He is better known because of his family than because of anything that he has yet done. His ancestors appear frequently in the pages of Irish history during the last few centuries, and his grand-mother painted "The Roll Call." His sister is shortly to marry a cousin of our Governor, Mr. Peter Lunn, son of Arnold Lunn, and like his father is both an Alpinist and an author. Peter Lunn's mother is a sister of the Earl of Idlesleigh, who like the Lunn, father and son, is a Catholic. All the Gormanston family are Catholics.

Another Irish nobleman has been also in the news recently, though not because of any connection with the Law Courts. It is Lord Clonmore, son and heir of the Earl of Wicklow, who published two books last month, a novel and a "Life of Pope Pius XI." A few years ago he published another book of a kind different to either, a Guide to Kent. Before he became a Catholic, Lord Clonmore was a clergyman working in the poor quarters of London, where he gave great example by his self-sacrificing life.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG

Subject: Soul and Body

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, to-morrow, November 21, will be: "Body and soul."

The Golden Text will be: "My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him" (Psalms 62:5).

Among others, the following citations from the Bible will be read: "These words spake Jesus, and lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son may also glorify thee: As thou hast given him power over all flesh, that he should give eternal life to as many as thou hast given him. And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." (John 17:1-3)

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When understanding changes the standpoint of life and intelligence from a material to a spiritual basis, we shall gain the reality of life, the control of Soul over sense, and we shall perceive Christianity, or Truth, in its divine Principle. This must be the climax before harmonious and immortal man is obtained and his capabilities revealed. It is highly important—in view of the immense work to be accomplished before this recognition of divine Science can come—to turn our thoughts towards divine Principle, that finite belief may be prepared to relinquish its error. Soul, or Spirit is God, unchangeable and eternal; and man coexists with and reflects Soul, God, for man is God's image." (Pages 322, 120).

Thanksgiving Service

The Annual Thanksgiving Service will be held on Thursday next, 25th November at 8 p.m.

There are many strange contracts in Hollywood, but that of Fernand Gravet's probably is the strangest.

The famous Continental star, whose first American film, "The King and the Chorus Girl," is showing at the Majestic Theatre signed the novel agreement with Mervyn LeRoy, Warner Bros. producer, in Paris last summer.

Gravet had long declined offers from Hollywood. Famous in Europe, starred in 27 big productions there, he was unwilling to go until conditions were right.

But not a single unpleasant incident marked the making of "The King and the Chorus Girl" in which Gravet plays the role of a spendthrift ex-moharch who falls in love with an American-chorus girl, played by Joan Blondell.
Mervyn LeRoy both directed and produced the picture.

WAKE UP AND LIVE

A riotous imbrolio involving Walter Winchell and Ben Bernie is the background of "Wake Up and Live," which tells the story of a small-time vaudeville performer, Jack Haley, who muffs his big radio opportunity when, at an audition, he gets "mike fright" and faints away. Grace Bradley, his partner, deserts him for Walter Caplett, a booking agent who gets her a night-club job.

Haley's sister, Patsy Kelly, is Walter Winchell's "Girl Friday," and through her he gets a job as a uniformed aide at Radio Centre. There he meets and pesters Ben Bernie, selling him an occasional "gag," and there also he meets the "Wake Up and Live" of radio, Alice Faye, who sets out to help him overcome his mike fright.
"Wake Up and Live" opens at the Queen's Theatre to-day.

THE ARCADIAN

Judging by the progress being made at rehearsals the Hong Kong Philharmonic Society will further enhance their reputation when
"The Arcadians" comes to be presented at the Queen's Theatre
during the week ending December 18.

The production is one of the most ambitious attempted in the Colony for a number of years and entails a lot of hard work, not only for the actual performers but for a host of other helpers. On account of the difficulty and expense of transportation the scenery is, as usual, being built locally; this has been designed by Mr. T. V. Harmon and its construction has been in hand for several weeks. Preparing of costumes has also been in progress for a similar period and the task of providing and training a suitable horse to play the part of "The Deuce" has kindly been undertaken by Mr. R. H. Charles proprietor of The Hong Kong Riding School.

His Excellency the Governor who recently honoured the Society by becoming its Patron has graciously consented to be present, with Lady Northcote, at the performance on Friday, December 17.

WINDJAMMER

A smashing adventure-romance of the sea, replete with thrills, is enacted in "Windjammer," George O'Brien's new RKO Radio picture.
O'Brien, who in each new picture reveals greater range as an outdoor star, here abandons the realm of western pictures, and in his role of Bruce Lane, of the State's Attorney office, has a part that offers him an opportunity for action, in the open spaces, this time on the wide Pacific.

O'Brien is called upon to serve a subpoena to a millionaire yachtsman who is engrossed in winning a California-to-Honolulu yacht race. The thrilling sight of a fleet of yachts leaving the harbour at the beginning of the race is an episode in the film.

Once O'Brien serves the subpoena, the millionaire refuses to turn back, but continues to Honolulu, with O'Brien an unwilling passenger. The presence on the yacht of the millionaire's daughter, charmingly played by Constance Worth, gives O'Brien added interest in the surprise trip.
"Windjammer" opens at the Alhambra Theatre to-day.

THE GOOD EARTH

The most distinguished motion picture to reach the screen since the inception of talkies is at the King's Theatre to-day, in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer photoplay version of Pearl S. Buck's widely-read novel, "The Good Earth."
Four years in the making, its panoramic scenes necessitated the transformation of a California mountainside into a Chinese landscape with acres of rice fields, gardens and villages. "The Good Earth" is not only an artistic achievement but is one of the most stirring, most vibrating and gripping stories ever to be unfolded on the screen in the history of picture-making.

No little of this is due to the portrayals of its two stars Paul Muni and Luise Rainer in the respective roles of the poor Chinese farmer, Wang, and his obedient, slave-girl wife, O-Lan.

PROBLEMS OF A LONG WAR

Wang Ching-wei Talks On Country's Position

Nanking, Nov. 19: Development of rural economy, protection of communications and awakening of the masses are the three factors contributing to the victory of a long-drawn-out war, declared Mr. Wang Ching-wei, Chairman of the Central Political Committee, in the course of a radio talk over the Nanking Broadcasting Station last night.

The eminent statesman regretted the fact that China's economic power is concentrated along the coast and the Yangtze River, whereas rural economy is practically in a state of bankruptcy. This deplorable situation, he pointed out, is unfavourable for the prosecution of modern warfare.

RURAL ECONOMY

As a remedial measure, Mr. Wang suggested that whilst China should exert her utmost efforts to retain her economic resources along the coast and the Yangtze River, she should lose no time in developing rural economy. Human and material power should be immediately marshalled to develop agriculture, handicraft, commerce and industries in the interior parts.

With regard to the protection of communications, Mr. Wang remarked that the network of highways constructed throughout the country during recent years can contribute much to self-defence if they are well protected and utilised, but may also facilitate the advance of the enemy, if they should be seized by them. In order to protect these highways every village and town should be taught to defend itself so that wherever the Japanese go, they will meet with resistance.

TO AWAKEN THE MASSES

Turning to the importance of the awakening of the masses, Mr. Wang recalled that in the Ching dynasty the Manchus ruled over the 400,000,000 Chinese by making the Chinese harness the Chinese themselves. The same tactics, Mr. Wang pointed out, are being used by the Japanese. In areas they occupy, they establish puppet governments, which they use as a tool to rule over the Chinese.

To defeat such tactics on the part of the Japanese the Chinese masses, Mr. Wang opined, must be awakened to the gravity of the present national crisis and they must be properly organised and trained to defend themselves.

JAPANESE HELD BACK

Tsindan, Nov. 19: With crack reinforcements rushed to the front on the Tientsin-Pukow railway zone, the Chinese forces are 'successfully holding back the Japanese on the north bank of the Yellow River, according to military reports received here.

Chinese mobile units are continuing to harass the Japanese rear.

The situation at Tsindan is quiet. Owing to heavy rain during the last three days no Japanese planes have appeared over Tsindan.—Central News.

RECOVERY OF TAININGFU REPORTED

Hsinhsiang, Nov. 19: Unconfirmed reports state that Tainingfu, in south Hopen, which was recently taken by the Japanese, was recaptured by Chinese mobile units on November 17, and that the Japanese troops in the city had retreated northward.—Central News.

RECONSTRUCTION OF CHINESE GOVERNMENT

Shanghai, Nov. 18: The reconstruction of the Chinese Government, according to informed circles here, will probably not be confined to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's resignation from the post of President of the Executive Yuan and his replacement by Dr. H. H. Kung, Minister of Finance.

It is stated that Dr. Kung will vacate the Ministry of Finance where he will be succeeded by Mr. T. V. Soong, President of the Bank of China who has already occupied the post of Finance Minister and who is a brother in law alike of both the Generalissimo and Dr. Kung both

MORALE OF CHINESE IS UNSHAKEN

Soochow Fighting Undiminished

Shanghai, Nov. 18: Fighting for Soochow, being of vital importance and also for the destiny of Nanking, continued with undiminished violence today. As far as could be ascertained this afternoon the Japanese, despite far superior employment of technical arms especially aircraft and artillery, were unable to break the resistance of the Chinese whose morale has not been shaken by the many weeks of bitter fighting at Shanghai.

They are stubbornly defending every square foot of the strongly fortified Soochow line even launching counter-attacks cleverly utilising opportunities of ground which, with its many lakes, offers numerous obstacles to the Japanese aggressors.

Japanese military authorities are very reluctant to issue news about the Soochow battle which seems to confirm that they have made no substantial progress so far. They only report that a Japanese column advancing from Kunshan occupied the village of Mengchuanmiao about 20 kilometres from Soochow this morning.—Transocean News Service.

TO PREVENT LOOTING

Shanghai, Nov. 19: The Japanese Consular and military authorities are working out special measures to prevent looting in foreign houses by Japanese troops quartered in the western suburbs and doing their utmost to safeguard foreign property. The trouble is that the freebooters, who are an inevitable concomitant in all armies in war time, disregarded the notices placed on the houses.—Reuter.

Safety Of Foreigners At Taiyuanfu

Peliping, Nov. 19: Japanese military authorities have received detailed information concerning the safety of 68 foreigners in Taiyuanfu. The information is as follows:

Fifteen Britons, including nine missionaries and six doctors, are inside the wall.

Sixteen Russians, mostly engineers and teachers, are all in the Roman Catholic Church, suffering a shortage of food which the Japanese are now supplying.

Fifteen Germans, all businessmen, are living with 80 Chinese employees some miles outside of the city, and the Japanese have supplied them with small machine-guns for defence against stragglers.

Fourteen Italians are all in a Catholic Church, except a 72-year-old bishop, who is with converts outside of the west wall. Japanese troops have been sent to assist him.

Eight Swiss Salvation Army workers are living inside of the wall.

It will be recalled that a number of American residents at Taiyuanfu were previously reported safe and well.—Reuter.

NO FIGHTING ON RAILWAY

Hsinhsiang, Nov. 19: There has been no serious fighting on the Peliping-Hankow Railway during the last two days, Chinese and Japanese troops are maintaining positions at Chilitien north of Paolienssu about only half a mile apart.—Central News.

FUSHAN SIEGE LIFTED

Chinese Forces Repulse Vigorous Offensive

Soochow, Nov. 19: The siege of Fushan, strategic point on the south bank of the Yangtze River, by Japanese forces, was reported to have been lifted on the night of November 17 when the Chinese forces repulsed a vigorous offensive.

Japanese troops which landed at Palmukow on the south bank of the River, 45 miles northwest of Shanghai, and other units which landed at Hsupu, also on the south bank of the River, about 48 miles northwest of Shanghai, jointly launched an enveloping attack on the town on the morning of that day. The situation was extremely precarious at one time when the Japanese succeeded in pushing their way to a corner of the walled city under bursts of Chinese fire.

Sanguinary fighting continued until night-time when the Chinese defenders drove off the attackers.—Central News.

CHINESE HOLDING CHENGYI LINE

Soochow, Nov. 19: The Japanese are throwing their full weight on Chengyi, seven miles west of Quinsan, where they are making a desperate attempt to smash the Chinese lines to push on to Weiting, but up to late last night they have been unable to make any headway.

The Chinese troops are holding tenaciously to their positions and inflicted heavy casualties on the invaders.

Taking advantage of the natural barriers, Chinese forces have been rushed to the south of Yangcheng Lake where they are successfully checking the advance of the Japanese.

A telephone message from Kashi late last night confirms the earlier report that the town is in Chinese hands.—Central News.

REFUGEE ZONE AT NANTAO

Adequate Lodging And Food Provided

Shanghai, Nov. 19: Order has been instituted at the refugee zone at Nantao as a result of the efforts of the Refugee Committee of the International Red Cross headed by Father R. Jacquinot.

All refugees are adequately provided with food and lodging, and police and fire-prevention work in the zone is efficiently handled.

Several visiting parties to the zone have been fired upon during the last two days by Japanese guards around the zone, though it is understood that no one has been killed or hurt. To prevent any incident the Refugee Committee now rejects any visit to the zone.—Central News.

AMERICA STATION CRUISES

The flag of Vice-Admiral S. I. Meyrick, C.B., Commander-in-Chief, America and West Indies Station, has been transferred temporarily from the York to the Orion, and the York, Captain H. E. Morse, D.S.O., has gone to Trinidad. On November 24 the Orion, Captain H. R. G. Kinahan, will leave Bermuda for a cruise to United States ports and the West Indies, and will be absent from the base until the spring.

H.M.S. Exeter, flying the broad pendant of Commodore H. H. Harwood, O.B.E., commanding the South American Division, arrived at Magellan on November 5, and her future movements are: Falklands, November 12-27; Buenos Aires, December 1-15; Montevideo, December 16-28; Mar del Plata, December 29-January 2; Puerto Belgrano, January 6-12; Punta del Este, January 14-29; Santos, February 1-7; Rio de Janeiro, February 8-16; and Trinidad, March 3.

TORPEDO-BOMBER TARGET
From November 4 the cruiser, Dunedin, Commander J. B. E. Hall, will be employed as a torpedo-bomber target vessel at Portsmouth, in addition to her duties as boys' training ship. She is to be an independent command, remaining in the Reserve Fleet. The Dunedin returned home in March after 13 years' service with the New Zealand Division.

NEW PARACHUTE ALLOWANCE

It is announced in an Order in Council that the Admiralty consider it desirable that some extra remuneration should be payable to ratings who have the care of parachutes. An allowance of 3d. a day is sanctioned with effect from January 1, 1937, to naval ratings not higher than able seaman and not holding a higher, non-substantive rating than seaman gunner, seaman torpedoman, visual signaller or wireless telegraphist, third class, who are qualified in and are employed on the duties of the care, packing, and maintenance of parachutes, the allowance to be payable only for actual days of employment on the duty.

"D" CLASS CRUISERS

H.M.S. Durban has attained the age limit of 16 years from date of completion, and brings up the total of over-age cruisers on the effective list to 19. The "D" class to which she belongs was designed in 1914, when a heavier type than the "C" class was called for in reply to new German cruisers and an armament of six 6in. guns instead of five was provided for. The Danae, Dauntless, and Dragon, ordered in September, 1913, were finished just before the Armistice. The Delhi, Dunedin, and Durban were ordered in July, 1917, and completed in 1919-21. Five more were ordered in March, 1918, but contracts for the Daedalus, Daring, and Dryad were cancelled after the Armistice, and the Despatch and Diomedes were completed in 1922. With the return home shortly of the Danae from China and of the Delhi and Despatch from the Mediterranean, all eight now on the list will be in reserve.

THE ARMY

ROYAL IRISH FUSILIERS' COLOURS

When the 2nd Battalion, The Royal Irish Fusiliers (Lieutenant-Colonel W. Carden Roe) trooped its old Colours at Aldershot on November 2 it carried on parade for the first time a set of silver drums which have been presented by former officers of the regiment.

After the old Colours (which were presented to the battalion in 1889 by Queen Victoria) had been trooped they were carried to the rear and cased, the band playing "Aul Lang Syne." The battalion then saluted the new Colours (presented by the Duke of Gloucester on Monday), which were marched on to parade in slow time. When the battalion marched past with the new Colours unfurled and the old Colours cased the salute was taken by Brigadier-General A. B. Ingleton-Webber, Colonel of the regiment, who afterwards addressed the parade.

5TH ROYAL INNISKILLING DRAGOON GUARDS

Lieutenant-Colonel E. O. Willey, M.C., has vacated command of the 5th Royal Inniskilling Dragoon guards after 27 years' service. He was wounded twice in France, was mentioned in despatches, and received the Italian Silver Medal for Valour.

Lieutenant-Colonel E. S. D. Martin, D.S.O., M.C., who took command of the regiment at Colchester, is 43. He was wounded and was mentioned in despatches in France. He has had service with the Machine Gun Corps as G.S.O.2 at Mhow, and as D.A.Q.M.G. in Egypt.

ROYAL AIR FORCE

Wing Commander—K. B. Lloyd, to No. 204 (General Reconnaissance) Squadron, Mount Batten, to command (Oct. 19).

Squadron Leaders—J. T. Paine, to R.A.F. Station, Cardington, for administrative duties (Oct. 17); J. R. Hallings-Pott, to Headquarters, No. 6 (Auxiliary) Group, London, for Air Staff duties (Oct. 15); M. W. C. Ridgway, to No. 240 (General Reconnaissance) Squadron, Calshot, for flying duties (Oct. 14).

REGISTRY WEDDING

Jones—Gecker

A quiet wedding took place at the Registry of Marriages, Supreme Court yesterday, when Miss Vera Gecker, of No. 1A Luna Building, Kimberley Road, became the bride of Mr. William Jones, N.C.O. 1/Seaforth Highlanders, of Murray Barracks.

The groom is the son of the late Mr. William Jones, and the bride is the daughter of the late Mr. Gregory Gecker.

Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith, Registrar of Marriages, performed the ceremony in the presence of Messrs. H. Nish and Leo D'Almada e Castro, Snsr.

MR. LI CHOR-CHI ENTERTAINS

Some dozen people were the guests of Mr. Li Chor-chi at a Chinese dinner in the Kam-Lung Restaurant and a showing of "The Good Earth" last night. The film had a special significance to Mr. Li's guests, since the technical side of the production was supervised by Mr. Li's brother, Mr. James Li of Hollywood.

Mr. Li's guests were Lt.-Colonel and Mrs. J. Multhead, Wing Commander and Mrs. W. A. K. Dalzell, Lt.-Colonel Crawford-Jones, Mrs. C. Eccles, Flight Lieutenant R. J. Wallace, Wing Commander C. R. Carr, Miss Arline Lee, and Lt. Commander and Mrs. D'Arcy Evans.

SHING MUN DAM

Mr. Hull Explains Situation

Following reports of trouble at Shing Mun, Mr. G. B. Gifford-Hull, engineer in charge of the Shing Mun Development Scheme issued the following statement in connection with the Pineapple Pass Dam, which serves to show the extent of the damage that the dam may have sustained in the settling process.

The movement which has taken place at Pineapple Pass Dam seems to be primarily due to settlement of the rockfill. It was anticipated that settlement, both in the rockfill on the downstream side of the corewall, and of the earth on the upstream side, would take place, since neither is founded on rock.

It was thought that this settlement would, or might, produce a movement in the corewall, which would crack it, and in order that any crack could easily be made good, vertical and horizontal channels, about 4" in diameter, were left in the corewall, so that if a crack developed, it could be satisfactorily grouted from the top of the corewall.

The movement has been greater than was anticipated, amounting to about 8 inches, which has had the effect of putting the pitching, which was exceptionally well done, under considerable stress, causing bulging in the surface of the pitching at a few places in its face.

REMEDIAL MEASURES

No movement has occurred at the place where pressure is greatest, i.e. at the bottom of the dam, movement being confined to the top, and the stability of the dam is not affected.

So far as can be said at present only one fine crack has appeared in the corewall, but it may be that the movement has caused a horizontal crack lower down. Tests are being carried out to determine if this is so or not. Meanwhile there is a moderate amount of leakage, but as the water runs quite clear, it seems evident that the material in the dam is not affected.

As Mr. Binnie, of the Consulting Engineers, was in Rangoon it was decided to ask him to visit the dam for an inspection. He will make a report when the results of the tests now being made are known, and it will be decided then what, if any, remedial work is advisable. Since the major part of the settlement and consequent movement, has now taken place, it is not anticipated that any major remedial measures will be necessary.

Pineapple Pass Dam is the smaller of the two dams at Shing Mun and is the first to be seen on travelling up the Access Road. The main Dam has so far shown no signs of trouble of any kind, although there has been a slight settlement of the rockfill amounting to a few inches.

MRS. JEFFERY FARNOL GETS DECREE

Music Teacher Cited In Undefended Suit

Mrs. Blanche Wilhelmina Victoria Farnol, of Ashburton-road, Southsea, wife of John Jeffery Farnol, the author, was granted a decree nisi, with costs, in the Divorce Court recently, says the "Evening News."

Mrs. Farnol petitioned on the ground of the misconduct of her husband with Phyllis Mary Clarke, since 1921. Miss Clarke was formerly music teacher to Mr. and Mrs. Farnol's daughter.

REPEATED COMPLAINTS

Mr. and Mrs. Farnol were married on April 15, 1903, Wandswoth. Mrs. Farnol's case—that she repeatedly complained to her husband of his association with Miss Clarke, and he assured her it was only friendship. Their association continued even after Miss Clarke left the house.

When she heard that he had stayed at addresses at Hove and other places with Miss Clarke she began proceedings for divorce.

ANGLO-ITALIAN FRIENDSHIP

WRONG ORGANISATION

The high sense of responsibility with which our King is endowed, has been also the capital virtue of the Kings of England.

The present organisation of the world at large is certainly wrong. Everywhere one lives on the margin of war. But not every hope is lost. Let us have then our hearts and eyes fixed on our King. Only from them we can expect to be shown the road to a superior justice amongst nations. Only then the Angel of Peace will be able to open his white wings on a better and worthier humanity. In this expectation I invite everybody to drink to the health of the King George VI.

GOVERNOR'S REPLY

His Excellency the Governor, in reply, said: We have listened with, I feel sure, pleasure and admiration, to the friendly and interesting speech which we have just been privileged to hear from the Italian Consul-General. I should like to say for my part, that every one of the sentiments which he has expressed is fully reciprocated. We are proud to think that England was Italy's friend during those times when she was trying to emerge out of her difficulties and I am glad to say that we still have the same warm friendship for Italy that she has for us. There is no stronger wish in the hearts of the British people than that friendship should continue in the same full and loyal manner, and I have no doubt that it will do so. We have the same feelings towards each other and we have the same interests at heart. I wish I had the power to express in your own beautiful language something of what I have been trying to express to you. I should like now to ask every one of you here present to rise and drink to the health of His Majesty King Victor Emmanuel of Italy.

The Daily Press

友之國中

HONG KONG, NOVEMBER 20, 1937.

WHY? WHO? HOW?

There is something very refreshing about the Japanese propagandists. They are such palpable prevaricators.

Furthermore, they are of a particularly inquisitive turn of mind, as witness the latest and, so far, the choicest product from that hotbed of mendacity, the Foreign Affairs Association of Japan. It is a pamphlet, printed in two colours and in two types with a map on the back. The marked price is five sen, but, of course, we got our copy free of charge. To say the least, it is a sappy piece of propaganda.

Commencing at the very top of the first page, in flaming red letters are the words, "Why? Who? How?" The Japanese propagandists then set out a series of questions and answers on the Sino-Japanese conflict. The questions are interesting and the answers are intriguing. There are twenty in all and most of them display a moral elasticity sufficient to make the brain reel.

We quote a few of the choicer examples of characteristic Japanese falsification. We print our own comments in italics to minimise confusion.

"Who began the fighting?" ask the Japanese propagandists, and they answer themselves bluntly, thus, "China did." The Brussels Conference, however, begs to differ.

"Why did the attempts to settle locally the incident of July 7 fail at its early stage?" Comes the answer straight from the shoulder and quick as lightning, "Because the Chinese never meant to do so. Their leaders were waiting for a chance to fight with Japan, and the rank and file entertained uncontrollable antagonism, the fruit of years of anti-Japanese education and propaganda."

Presumably if the logic of the Japanese argument were to be followed then the Japanese would not show any antagonism to any foreign power which might deprive them of huge slabs of their own very fertile inland empire.

"What about the reports of non-combatants being attacked from the air?" The answer to this very pertinent question is more circumspect than satisfactory. Having discussed a solitary phase of international law to their complete satisfaction, the Japanese propagandists go on to say that on all occasions when they have carried out the raids, the Japanese aviation authorities "have consistently issued warnings, so that civilians may avoid injury from bombs." Even if that were true it would constitute the rarest example of an aggressor informing a defender of the exact time and place of the forthcoming attack. Such simplicity, so childlike is indeed refreshing when it comes from a source where vice is accepted as a virtue on the score of its proven expediency. Further on in the answer to this question it is contended that "Japanese planes have also made a point of flying at low altitudes to ensure accuracy in dropping bombs." Japanese war planes have never wilfully attacked non-combatants. There is surely a grand opening for an army of skilled opticians in the Land Of the Rising Sun. Presumably the Japanese airmen did not fly low enough when they attempted to kill the British Ambassador!

"What are the facts concerning the reported attacks upon schools and hospitals?" For sheer, crass idiocy, the reply to this question cannot be surpassed. Having maintained that they were justified in slaughtering hundreds of innocent school children because it was believed that the Chinese had placed soldiers on such premises, the Japanese prevaricators actually make this assertion, "As regards hospitals, it is the Chinese and not the Japanese who have been making attacks on them." Seriously, is it expected that anyone threatened with intelligence will give credence to so gross and unsubstantial a charge?

"Is it true that the Chinese fishing fleet off Hong Kong was attacked by Japanese submarines?" In view of the evidence taken on oath by those who actually were victims of this outrage on the sea, the reply to this question is remarkable only for its insolence. It is, "This story is unfounded and unsupported by fact."

Of course, great play is made of the menace of communism and Japan's great mission for the salvation of Asia which she feels divinely inspired to carry out. These matters we may brush aside because in the first instance there is no Communist party in China, and, secondly, the world has laughed to scorn the claim that the Japanese mission is anything more than merely a blatant land-thieving campaign.

One final question and answer will, however, suffice, to display the Nipponese mind on the whole matter.

"What are the motives of the Japanese, and when can we expect the conflict to end?" Now, here is the breath-taking answer:—"Japan is now determined to fight it out to the finish." Likewise China. "Peace will return only when China brings herself to realize the error of her ways—particularly of her belief that Japan can be driven out of the Asiatic Continent by force."

No nation is invincible. Further comment would be superfluous.

DISINHERITANCE

The law of inheritance in England is peculiar in one discreditable fact. It permits a man to disinherit on his death the wife and family for whom in life he is held responsible. In this it differs from the law of Scotland, which derives from Roman law the rule that one-third only of an estate can be freely disposed of. A third must go to the wife and a third to the children. That humane principle is followed in most of the Dominions and in many Continental countries. The hardship caused by the English law's deficiency is every now and then widely advertised by the case of a wealthy man who for a whim has left his family penniless, but for every case reported there are many of which nothing is heard. Yet no fewer than four private members' Bills designed to provide a remedy have passed their second reading since 1912 without becoming law. A fifth had the luck of the ballot recently, and there is a widespread anxiety among members of all parties that time should be given for its passage. It does not attempt the straightforward Scottish method of prescribing what shares of an estate a widow and children must have, but it empowers the courts, if a petition is lodged within six months of the testator's death, to order that such reasonable provision as

Japan Urged To Denounce Nine Power Pact

Tokyo, Nov. 19.

The Meitinkai, an association of retired officers of the civil service and fighting services has passed a resolution urging the Government to denounce the Nine Power Treaty forthwith.

The resolution was handed by General Kunikida Tanaka to Mr. Koki Hirota, the Foreign Minister, and to members of the diplomatic corps in Tokyo.

Urging the vital necessity of "shaking off the shackles" of the Nine Power Pact, the resolution declares the treaty is inapplicable owing to a fundamental change in circumstances.

China has taken advantage of the guarantee of her independence of territorial and administrative integrity, given by eight other signatories to the pact, and has violated the rights and interests of the guarantors, especially Japan, against whom China, with the completion of national unification, has launched systematic anti-Japanese operations, whereas the pact was concluded when China was ridden by warlords," says the resolution.

The resolution goes on to assert that Great Britain and Russia had trampled on the spirit of the pact by aiding and abetting the Chinese anti-Japanese operations in an attempt to extend their own influence, whereas the signatories of the pact were pledged not to infringe upon each other's rights and interests in China.

The resolution declares that other signatories of the treaty condemn Japan's action in China as an act of aggression, whereas Japan's action was taken entirely in self-defence, and whereas the pact never banned the exercising of rights of self-defence.

LORD HALIFAX

Ideal Interpreter Of English Life And Thought

London, Nov. 18.

The elimination of Article 16 from the League Covenant was suggested from two sides, namely Lord Sankey, the Government Labourite and Lord Stonehaven, the Conservative, when the House of Lords was in debate to-day. Article 16 deals with the application of sanctions.

Baron Noel Buxton (Lab.) pleaded for concession on the principle of the restoration of the German colonies. When that was done he said, the idea of adjustment could be freely discussed. The Germans, for example, well understood the difficulty about Tanganyika, and he thought they were looking more to West Africa.

Replying for the Government, Viscount Swinton deprecated the requests for comprehensive statements of British policy of procedure as a disservice to the objects of securing an all-round settlement. What was needed was quiet discussion.

Paying a tribute to Lord Halifax as an ideal interpreter of English life and thought, Viscount Swinton said he hoped his visit to Germany would be treated circumspectly. Too much should not be expected from it, and the worst service to any negotiations was to surround them with a tremendous glare of publicity.

they think fit shall be made for the disinherited. This discretion is hedged about with many safeguards. The court must consider any other means of income the applicant has. It must take account of the conduct of the applicant to the testator. It must bear any evidence that is available as to the reasons why the testator acted as he did. The simpler method of settling by law the family's share would have achieved the desired end without the need for complex litigation, but if English public opinion is not ripe for that the present compromise is at least an advance. So needful a piece of social reform should have been the Government's concern. The least it can do is to see that this time it becomes law.

POLITICAL PRISONERS RELEASED

Gandhi To Give Assurances

Calcutta, Nov. 18: The Bengal Government has released 1,100 political prisoners, most of whom have completed their prison terms, but they are living in villages under restriction, as a result of Mr. Gandhi's conversations with Sir John Anderson, Governor of the Province.

Mr. Gandhi will be interviewing the remaining 450 political prisoners after which the Government may be able to release them if the Mahatma will give satisfactory assurances. Prisoners on Andaman Islands are not affected by the release.—Center's Bulletin Service.

DOMINICA TO BE MADE SEPARATE COLONY

London, Nov. 18.

In the House of Lords, the Parliamentary secretary for the Colonies, the Marquess of Dufferin and Ava, moved the second reading of the Dominica Bill, which seeks to separate Dominica from the Colony of Leeward Isles and make it a separate colony. If the Bill became law, he said, it was intended that Dominica should be governed in future as part of the Windward Islands.

Viscount Ellbank, in supporting the Bill, said it was the culmination of a very difficult controversy which had been going on for many years. There was no one in Dominica who would not welcome the Bill. The Bill was read a second time.—British Wireless.

ANGLO-AMERICAN PACT

Washington, Nov. 18.

Should negotiations for an Anglo-American trade pact be initiated, Britain will be the twenty-first nation with which the United States has announced her intention of negotiating a reciprocal agreement. Sixteen such agreements have already been concluded including one with Canada. The "New York Times" states that the agreement, when concluded, will grant reductions of tariff on British manufactured goods entering the United States, Britain making concessions on American agricultural products.—Reuter.

NO ULTIMATUM TO FRANCE

Paris, Nov. 18.

The rumours that Japan has issued an ultimatum to France are again denied by the Japanese Embassy here.

It was stated that the Japanese announced they would probably occupy Hainan Island and certain Indo-China harbours, if the French authorities did not prevent the transportation of arms to China via Indo-China.

Senator Berenger here said that he did not speak of an ultimatum, when he said that the delivery of arms to China could have such consequences.—Transocean News Service.

PRESS AND STATE SECRETS

Sir Thomas Inskip's Testimony

Sir Thomas Inskip, Minister for the Co-Ordination of Defence, speaking at the annual dinner of the Institute of Journalists, held at the Waldorf Hotel recently, stated that, when Attorney-General, he never dared to exercise his power under the Official Secrets Act.

"Whether that is to my credit or not," he said, "I leave it to you to decide. At any rate, it makes my appearance here possible. The Act has often puzzled me. I used to find it very difficult to interpret its provisions. I may say that whatever view you may take about its interpretation or about its real purpose, it is not a bad thing that there should be some restraint upon the publication of items of news which it is not in the public interest to purvey."

"I am sure that with a profession actuated by a sense of duty as yourselves it will be possible to arrive at an arrangement which will prevent the improper disclosure of official secrets, and at the same time to allow you to practise the ingenuity which is so characteristic of your profession in extracting information from innocents like myself and my colleagues. The freedom of the Press is one of the features of our public life which we hold very tenaciously."

It is a cause of great gratification, Sir Thomas continued, that our Press, so uncontrolled as it is by the State and free from anything in the nature of censure, should show, on the one hand, as much courage as it does in criticising great people or great organisations, and at the same time so much respect for what it is so proper to say in organs as powerful as those which you control.

PROBABLE FATE OF NANKING

London, Nov. 18.

According to the "Times" the announcement of the transfer from Nanking to Hankow of the Chinese Foreign Office may at any time be expected now. It is stated that the foreign Embassies will probably evacuate to Hankow at the end of the week, and it is learned that the British gunboat Bee has been commissioned to transfer the British Embassy staff.

Speculating on the probable fate of Nanking, the paper recalls the heroic resistance of the Chinese, but fears that the superiority of the Japanese Army may give the latter the advantage.—Transocean.

M.A. DEGREE FOR LORD NUFFIELD

To enable Lord Nuffield to become a regular member of the ancient House of Congregation, with full speaking and voting rights and eligibility for any committee, Congregation conferred the degree of Master of Arts upon him by decree recently. He has been Doctor of Civil Law by honorary degree for some years, and the Vice-Chancellor said that he had put before Lord Nuffield the alternatives of a doctorate by diploma or the M.A. by decree. The object was to testify to their sense of gratitude, not only for his munificence but also for his continual and detailed interest in the University curriculum. His choice was for the simpler measure of ordinary routine.

The House approved the preamble of a statute introduced by Mr. B. H. Sumner, of Balliol, removing unprepared translations from Modern Greats. Every candidate, he said, had a choice of four modern languages, of which French or German must be one. The intended object of testing an adequate reading knowledge of the subject had never been attained. The standard was very low and was virtually that of a pass school. To raise it was impossible, however, because of the diffusion already existing in Modern Greats.

The Faculty of Social Studies was unanimous in the matter, and did not propose to suggest any alternative. It was hoped that if pass moderations were revised languages would be considered. In that case it was hoped that it would be possible to insist upon a proper standard of French and German translation before candidates for the Final Honour School began their work.

The House accepted by decree the offer of Mr. and Mrs. Spalding to extend the period for the new Professorship of Eastern Religions and Ethics to fifteen years, and augmenting the stipend of the professor to £1,000 a year.

STRATEGY FORESEEN

Japanese Attack Through Quagmire

Shanghai, Nov. 19. Advancing despite the rain which has converted the low-lying parts of the countryside into quagmires, Japanese forces are proceeding westward along the Shanghai-Nanking Railway and nearing Soochow.

Japanese claim they have reached a point only three miles from Soochow and also that they completed the occupation of Kashing early this morning.

Meanwhile Japanese troops which landed at Hupukow, on the south bank of the Yangtze opposite Nantong, are attacking Fushan city, where severe fighting is in progress.

According to foreign advices from Tientsin, the 51st Chinese Army has moved westward, presumably to strengthen the Chinese lines south of the Yellow River.

Chinese military authorities anticipate that the Japanese will attempt to land at Lanchow Bay, in north Shantung, with the intention of striking southward and cutting off the Shantung peninsula.

The Japanese, it is believed, will try to place the Chinese troops on the peninsula in a position where they either withdraw or become isolated.

The Japanese apparently do not intend to effect a landing at Tientsin because such a step might impel the Chinese to destroy Japanese mills and other plants there, which are valued at least 300,000,000 yen. —Reuter.

The King has presented an oak tree from Windsor Park to Gibraltar in commemoration of the Coronation. The tree is being sent to Gibraltar in a warship and will be planted by the Governor-General, Sir Charles Harington. —British Wireless Service.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE SCHEME

London, Nov. 19. At a recent count of insurance books exchanged last July the Ministry of Labour found that the number of work-people within the general unemployment insurance scheme was some 100,000 more than the estimates, which the Ministry makes from month to month on a basis of available data, had indicated.

A statement in the "Labour Gazette" explains that after careful analysis of the figures it appears the increase is due to the fact that recent improvement in trade and employment has resulted in a considerable number of persons, who would otherwise have passed or remained outside the scope of the scheme, had been retained within it or induced to re-enter it. —British Wireless Service.

Chinese military authorities have lined up strong forces to check the Japanese offensive and strong reinforcements are being rushed to the front line. The position of the two opposing forces at some points is less than one third of a mile.

LEPROSY WORK

Mr. Perry Burgess, president of the American Leprosy Foundation, sailed for Manila on Thursday by the R.M.S. Empress of Japan after a brief stay in the Colony, during which time he met various people interested in leprosy relief and eradication.

Discussing the situation Mr. Burgess was greatly concerned over the work that had been accomplished by the various philanthropic institutions throughout China, especially that done by the Chinese Mission to Lepers whose new headquarters in Tazang, which had cost $120,000, was recently destroyed by the Japanese.

Owing to the present situation attention has been diverted from the leprosy problem and there is fear that the plans for the future will have now to be abandoned temporarily.

During Mr. Burgess' stay here he was entertained by Dr. Arthur Woo and Mr. William Yinson Lee, director and former president of the Chinese Mission to Lepers. SCHOOL OF ORIENTAL STUDIES

New Grants Possible

In the House of Commons Mr. Ridley (Claycross, Lab.) asked the Secretary of State for the Colonies whether, in view of the probability that the department of African languages in the London School of Oriental Studies would be obliged to close down owing to the cessation of an annual grant of £3,000 from the Rockefeller Trust, his Majesty's Government would make a grant out of public funds to enable the scientific study of African languages to continue in the British Empire.

Mr. Ormsby-Gore—I am at present considering the question of inviting the Governments of the African dependencies to make financial contributions for the maintenance of the Department of Languages and Culture of Africa in the School of Oriental Studies. I would also point out that the school is already in receipt of substantial financial assistance through the Treasury block grant payable to the University of London on the recommendation of the University Grants Committee.

Mr. Ridley—Having regard to our responsibilities in native Africa, and the very considerable sum of money involved in this question, will he make certain that the opportunities for learning these languages in the London School are not terminated for financial reasons?

Mr. Ormsby-Gore—I cannot do that, but I can always make arrangements which cannot be made in London for the necessary teaching of African languages for those who are going out to administer in tropical Africa. In the main they have to learn the bulk of the native languages of the country.

EXHIBITION TENNIS SUCCESS

("To the Editor, 'Hong Kong Daily Press'")

Dear Sir,—I beg to announce, through the medium of your esteemed paper, that in our Exhibition Tennis Match held on Sunday the 14th inst., we have netted totally $872.90 and the whole sum has been remitted to-day through the Bank of China by our Chairman, Mr. U Sz Wing, to the President of the Chinese National Government to be contributed toward the China War Relief Funds.

Yours, etc.,
K. P. WONG,
Hon. Secretary,
Chinese Recreation Club.

FAMOUS CORINTHIAN RETIRES

M. Morgan-Owen, a famous Corinthian footballer, has retired from his mastership at Repton School. He was a fearless centre-half in his day. He represented Wales on many occasions in international matches against England, Scotland and Ireland and played for Oxford against Cambridge in 1897, 1899 and 1900.

"I B. Blackland, another Corinthian," has taken over the football at Repton.

RUGBY FOOTBALL

There will be two games of Rugby Football on the Navy ground at Causeway Bay this afternoon. The Club will play the Navy at 4.15 p.m. This game will be preceded by a match between the Army "A" XV and the Club "A" XV commencing at 3 p.m. On account of the Volunteer Camp, the Club strength is depleted and numbers for the Club "A" side will be made up by Navy men. P. O. Rogers (Eagle) will referee the 3 o'clock game and Mr. D. W. MacEwen the later game.

Navy and Club sides selected are as follows:—

NAVY

Lt. Webster (Grampus), Lt. Walters (Olympus), P. O. Askit (Dainty), Lt. Harvey (Odin), Sub-Lt. Kyrke (Regent), Lt. Elliot (Eagle) (Captain), Lt. Talbot (Otus), Sub-Lt. Anderson (Olympus), Sig. Ford (Tamar), A.B. (Eagle), Lt. John (Pandora), Lt. Northey (Diana), Lt. Woods (Grampus), A.B. Thatcher (Eagle) and Lt. Ogle (Phoenix).

CLUB 1ST XV

M. W. Macgrath, D. H. Stewart, H. D. Bidwell, W. E. Greive, H. van Leeuwen, C. W. Lyle, J. R. Henderson, R. G. Geer, W. E. Peers, A. S. Olsen, A. W. Holden, C. F. Needham, H. W. E. Heath, A. J. G. Taylor and J. C. Miller (Captain).

CLUB "A" XV

H. F. Hopkins, A. N. Other (Navy), D. B. Nelson A. N. Other (Navy), B. J. Gallagher, A. N. Other (Navy), R. Rutherford, K. H. G. White, T. H. Pratt, J. G. Harvey, B. Hynes, R. E. H. Nelson, A. G. Dalziel (Captain), G. L. Eastgate and J. K. Birt.

MR. PICKFORD AND SOCCER BLACK SHEEP

Mr. W. Pickford, the 77-year-old President of the Football Association, who denounced unfair "tricks" in soccer, in a recent speech, replied to the Football League statement that the game this season is practically free of foul methods.

"I am very glad to hear football is cleaner," said Mr. Pickford. "My remarks on the subject of unfair play were not directed to League players generally. They were confined to a few players—the black sheep. The majority of League footballers are honourable men, and play the game as we would have them play it."

Mr. Pickford explained that his remarks were made primarily for the sake of the vast number of amateur footballers.

"With nearly half a million amateurs, we have to be careful," he declared, "for they model themselves on the big club players they see occasionally. That is why we want the League to see an example."

BRITISH INTERESTS IN CHINA

F.B.I. Letters To Mr. Eden

As a result of a meeting convened by the Federation of British Industries on September 29, it was decided to form a liaison committee representing the interests who attended the meeting, whose duty it would be to watch further developments in the situation and deal with matters as they arose, says the "Times."

This committee met for the first time recently under the chairmanship of Sir George Macdonogh. The following is the composition of the committee:

Mr. A. W. Burkill, Mr. W. B. Kennett, and Mr. E. C. Behrens (China Association); Mr. S. Carr and Mr. Robinson Bakes (deputy) (Bradford Chamber of Commerce); Mr. J. W. Nicolson and Mr. Arthur G. Marshall (London Chamber of Commerce); Sir Kenneth P. Stewart and Mr. Arthur Reiss (Manchester Chamber of Commerce); Lieutenant-General Sir George Macdonogh, and Mr. Guy Locock (F.B.I.).

As a result of the meeting, two letters have been addressed to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. In the first of these letters the hope is expressed that the opportunity will be taken at the forthcoming Brussels Conference of considering, in conjunction with representatives of the other Powers concerned, the principles on which claims for compensation for the damage arising from the Sino-Japanese hostilities should be based.

In the second letter grave concern is expressed at the continued encroachment of the Japanese in the International Settlement at Shanghai and their interference with the services of the Shanghai Municipal Council. It is suggested that these are matters which should also be discussed with the representatives of the Powers concerned at the forthcoming Brussels Conference with object of formulating a common policy regarding the International Settlement, and avoiding any exploitation of the position by either of the belligerent parties when hostilities cease.

ACCESS TO WHARVES

The hope was further expressed that the Government would not in any way relax their representations to the Japanese Government to provide reasonable access for British and other foreigners to the northern and eastern districts of the Settlement occupied by the Japanese troops for the purpose of maintenance and reasonable operation of plant and removal of cargo from the wharves and godowns. Finally information is asked in regard to Customs administration in North China, more particularly the extent to which Japanese authorities have assumed control and whether they have given any official assurance that the obligations to British and other foreign holders of bonds secured on the Customs revenues will be met, so far as many be necessary, from the revenues under Japanese control.

In addition to the matters referred to in these two letters the committee again considered the questions of insurance rates and shipping facilities. It was reported that certain reductions had already been made in insurance rates and that the shipping companies concerned were anxious to give all the assistance in their power to British traders. Close co-operation is being maintained between the committee and the insurance and shipping interests.

JAPANESE SOLDIERS RESTLESS

Taxi-Dancers To Quell Unrest

Murmurings of protest, which may be fanned into open rebellion against the Japanese war of aggression in China, are being heard in the ranks of the Japanese troops operating in the Shanghai area. It is declared by competent neutral observers that thousands of Japanese soldiers are not at all in favour of the struggle but seek to return to their homes in Japan.

The anti-war movement in the ranks of the Japanese is stated to be growing and the government is already greatly concerned. So much so, in fact, that hundreds of pretty Japanese girls and young women, the majority being former cabaret taxi-dancers in Shanghai and in Japan, have been employed by the government to entertain the soldiers.

ANTI-WAR HANDBILLS

The discovery of anti-war handbills in the pockets of a Japanese soldier who was killed in battle occasioned no surprise, as the majority of the Japanese soldiers, intensely patriotic though they may be, are in the main simple country boys whose hearts are not with the government in this present struggle. Handbills found in the possession of slain or captured Japanese of late have been printed and distributed by The Japanese Youth League.

The following is a translation of one of them:

- (1) Avoid bloodshed and do not sacrifice your life or live "a life of hell" just because of the ambitions of the militarists and financiers.
- (2) For what have 200,000 lives been sacrificed since the Manchurian Incident?
- (3) Why should our parents and families at home live a life of poverty and misery?
- (4) War must have a real national objective.
- (5) China is not our enemy.
- (6) Your slogans should be: (a) everlasting peace, and (b) ask the militarists to "return" you your life.

REFUSE TO FIGHT

Recently two foreign employees of the Public Works Department of the Shanghai Municipal Council, who have access to Hongkew, witnessed a party of no fewer than 22 Japanese soldiers, chiefly of the peasant type, being taken under strong guard to the Japanese military headquarters. One of the foreigners, Mr. A. K. Osgood, who spent 11 years in Japan and who speaks the Japanese language fluently, ascertained from the conversation of the armed guards that the 22 men had openly refused to fight the Chinese, laying down their arms and declaring they would take the consequences.

The 22 men, according to Osgood, insisted that they were but simple farmers who had been forced to take up arms against a country with whom they had no quarrel.

NOT FOOLED

In the vicinity of Shuchiamuchia, north of Miao-chang, Chinese defenders captured a number of Japanese soldiers, among them being one Hideo Tanaka, a short, bald, middle-aged man, who in private life is the owner of a small shop dealing in flowers. Tanaka declared he was happy to have been made a prisoner, asserting that he and his companions have no desire to fight the Chinese people, but were forced to do so by the Japanese militarists.

"Our commanders think they are deluding us when they keep from us the extent of our losses. But soldiers have their own methods of finding out things and we know that in the Shanghai area our losses in lives were extremely heavy. Many high Japanese officers, were, to my own knowledge, killed," Tanaka declared.

Questioned as to the report that the commander-in-chief of the Japanese fighting forces in the Shanghai area, General Matsui, had been wounded, the captive stated that the soldiers serving Japan in this vicinity had heard reports to that effect but had been forbidden by their officers to discuss the matter.

JAPANESE SURRENDER

The prisoner was amazed over being kindly treated by the Chinese soldiers, declaring that their officer had solemnly informed them that to fall into the hands of the Chinese meant certain death by torture. The officers, in some instances, he said, frequently exhibited photographs allegedly depicting Japanese prisoners being burned to death by their Chinese captors.

Tanaka told his captors of how a Japanese unit of nearly 45 men, ordered to attack a strongly-fortified Chinese position off Junkong Road, in broad daylight, approached the barricade, produced a white flag and surrendered in a body to the Chinese.

The infuriated senior officer communicated with higher officers and the result was that a terrific artillery and bombing barrage reduced the Chinese barricade to a shambles, but the prisoners were removed to safety.

CRANMER TO CAPTAIN WARWICK

Wyatt To Play For Surrey?

R. E. S. (Bob) Wyatt has been deposed from the captaincy of Warwickshire. At a meeting of the general committee of the county club, an invitation was extended to Peter Cranmer, the England rugby footballer, to captain the team next season.

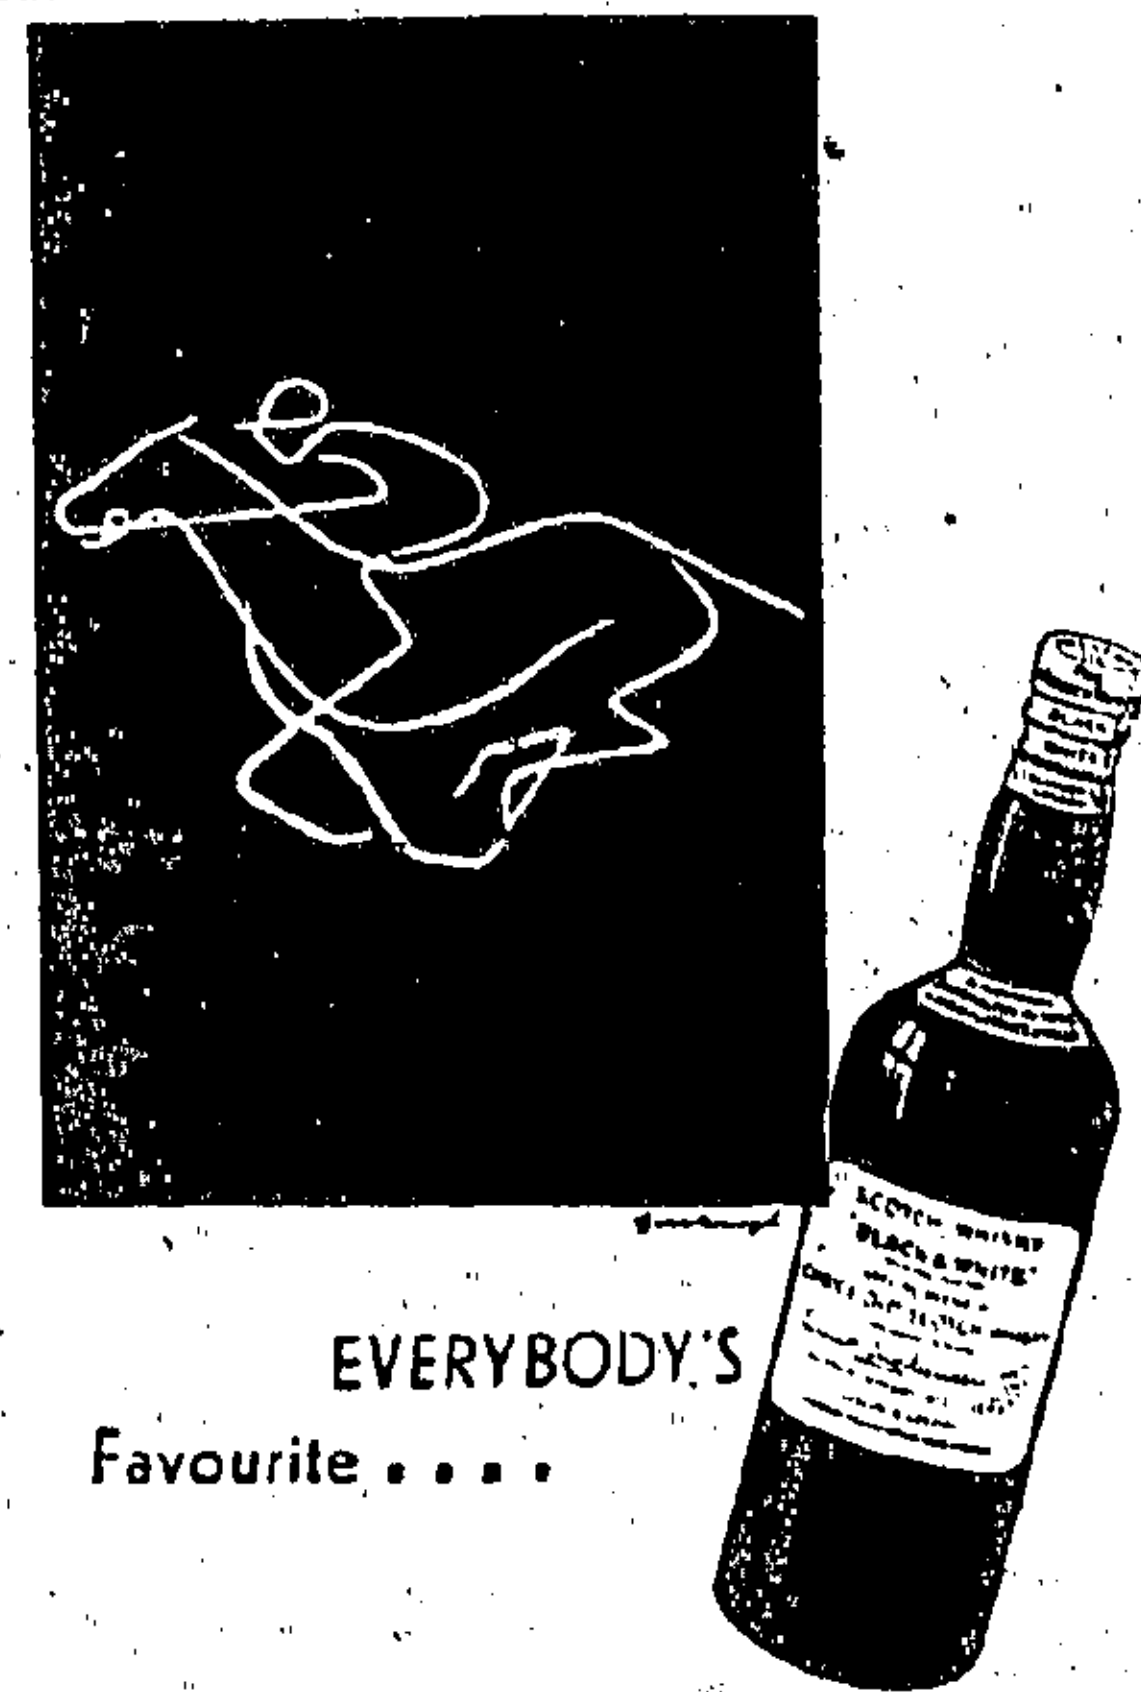

Ever since it was announced last week that the committee would be meeting to consider the captaincy, rumour has been busy. It was stated that Wyatt had not seen eye to eye with members of the committee last year and that he had at times not been on the best of terms with his team.

Warwick was not one of the brighter counties last year and quite a number of spectators blamed this to Wyatt's handling of the team. Wyatt's supporters, however, pointed out that he made over 2,000 runs last season and that on many occasions his tactics were admitted by the fact that he had carried the team on his shoulders.

COMMITTEE'S STATEMENT

The county committee have issued a statement expressing appreciation of Wyatt's services and expressing the hope that he will continue to play for the county. The change, they say, in the captaincy, was made because it was felt that the side had got into a groove. Wyatt has a birth qualification for Surrey and it has been suggested that he will play for them next season. Colour was lent to this by the fact that he visited Mr. H.D.G. Leveson-Gower, president of the Surrey Club. Mr. Leveson-Gower refuses to discuss the rumour and said that Wyatt had been a friend of his for many years and called on him as he was in London for the Motor Show.

"I consider him the second best bat in England," said Mr. Leveson-Gower, "and if he came to Surrey it would be my county's gain."

H. K. STOCK EXCHANGE

YESTERDAY'S OFFICIAL QUOTATIONS

The market was an uninteresting one during the past week, largely on account of its being so narrow. Early on a slight reaction found fairly ready buyers, and a certain amount of enquiry is still apparent, but little is passing, owing to scarcity of sellers.

Speculative stocks were slightly easier in the absence of business.

In the Sterling section, Unions maintain their price, but Banks after selling as high as $1720, reacted to $1650. The Far Eastern markets in London were reactionary.

In Manila, prices were inclined to give way in a succession of depressing quiet markets.

PHILIPPINE MINING NEWS

DEMONSTRATION GOLD Mines milled 9,773.81 tons of ore during October, from which P148,643.95 was produced. Of the total, 6,598.61 tons came from the oxide portion of the mine and produced P97,336 in bullion, and 3,175 tons came from the sulphide section and produced concentrates valued at P52,309.95.

Average recovery was P15.31, lower than usual for Demonstration. Due to the starting of the flotation plant to handle sulphides. It was thought best to hold the heads down and to do the experimental work, with as low a grade of ore as possible. Most of the difficulties have now been solved, and higher heads and greater recovery can be expected, according to A. W. Ralston, president.

BENGUET EXPLORATION produced P21,355 from 3,570.2 tons treated in October.

SALACOT produced P36,513.36 worth of ore during its last month of operation. The plan was shut down with the last shift of October, and steps are being taken towards liquidation.

MASBATE CONSOLIDATED produced P200,016 from 53,373 tons of ore milled in October. Bad weather during the typhoon early in the month interfered with mining and milling operations somewhat. It was reported.

SALCOT MINING Company announces that a special meeting of the stockholders will be held at the office of the corporation shortly. At the meeting a proposed resolution to authorize the board of directors of the corporation to dispose of all or any part of the machinery, mill, outfit, plant, equipment, supplies, and provisions of the firm to such persons and under such terms and conditions as it may decide upon its discretion to be for the best interests of the corporation; and all other business that may come before the meeting will be decided by the members.

GOVERNMENT NEGLECT OF ADVERTISING

CAMPAIGNS THAT NEED ORGANISED PUBLICITY

Mr. H. G. Clarke (of the "Leamington Spa Courier") president of the Newspaper Society, strongly criticised Government advertising—or, as he put it, "perhaps the lack of it," when speaking at the society's half-yearly general meeting in London.

"The Government to-day—I am not referring to its political complexion, of course—is a vast administrative machine, which has to make a success of all sorts of activities," said Mr. Clarke.

Many of these, if they are to be fully successful, need the aid of publicity. I need instance only a few—the Post Office, recruiting for the services, national fitness, health services, road safety, insurance regulations. The Government has recognised the need for publicity, but it has not learned the lesson that free publicity alone will never make a campaign. It has not recognised that if a job is to be done on a national scale, and demands publicity, there must be widespread newspaper advertising.

"Displayed advertising in newspapers produces results that cannot be achieved in any other way. We may be told that public money cannot be voted to the various departments to be spent in newspaper advertising. The answer is such expenditure will add to the efficiency and success of the machinery of Government—as it certainly will—it is just as legitimate as any other expenditure that the Treasury is called upon to sanction.

"The Government should realise that the newspapers of this country are sick and tired of the everlasting appeals made to them for official free publicity. News we want, certainly, but we do not want advertising disguised as news. Particularly we do not want to be asked, as we have been both by the Government and by others, to publish as news what other newspapers have published as paid advertising.

"We are not asking for our good-will to be bought—we have proved our loyalty often enough when the Government has needed support. We want fair treatment, and that means paid-for Government advertising, when, as is frequently the case, Government schemes demand to be advertised.

"The sooner the Government recognises that its present methods are a constant source of irritation, and tend to handicap rather than to advance its interests, the better for all concerned. If the Government will show any signs of tackling the question by a properly co-ordinated advertising plan, the society will be more than willing to take part in discussions.

"Much of what I have just said applies also to such official organisations as marketing boards, and here I am glad to say that the Milk Marketing Board is carrying through an advertising campaign that will cover over 700 newspapers. I am quite sure that the Milk Marketing Board will get

TRADE OF CYPRUS

U. K. Principal Purchaser

The United Kingdom was the principal purchaser of Cyprus products according to the annual report on the social and economic progress of the island for 1936 published by the Colonial Office.

The total value of exports to the U.K. rose by £146,956 to £434,943, the commodities principally responsible being carobs, carob seed, barley, raw cotton, lemons, oranges, asbestos and pyrites.

Imports from the United Kingdom decreased by £36,962, totalling £491,579. On the other hand there was an increase in the value of imports from Australia and India.

Total imports were £1,485,716, as compared with £1,481,941 in 1935.

Exports totalled £1,594,815 (£1,189,003).

The report states that the mining industry continued to expand in 1936 and the total value of mineral exports amounted to £712,000, compared with £464,977 in 1935. There was considerable prospecting activity.

AMERICAN TRADE BARGAINING

Plans Negotiations With British Dominions

Washington, Nov. 18. Parallel with the announcement of Anglo-American negotiations, the State Department announced its intention of opening new negotiations with Canada. It is understood that the United States has no plans at present for negotiations with other Dominions, but it is declared that such steps are possible in the "not so distant future."

Reuter.

CANADA CONFIRMS

Ottawa, Nov. 19. Mr. Mackenzie King confirmed the Washington announcement that negotiations are contemplated for a new trade agreement between Canada and the United States. Mr. King said he hoped the new agreement will be on as broad and comprehensive a basis as possible, but would not comment on the possible surrender of some of Canada's preferences in the British market to facilitate the United States-United Kingdom Agreement. The present United States-Canadian Trade Agreement expires in 1938.

good results from that campaign, and I commend its example to the Government and to other marketing boards."

FOG SIGNAL FOR SHIPS

Hamburg, Nov. 18.

The first merchantman to be fitted with the sounding signal device, to be used in case of heavy fog prevailing, made its initial trip from here on Thursday. The vessel, "Mathias Stinner," has a loudspeaker on board, which picks up the sound of the propellers of steamers near it, and thus enables the captain to determine the precise distance separating him from other vessels. The trials conducted with this new device were highly successful.

PRIVATE WAR HOSPITALS

Socialites Turn Hand To Nursing

Many emergency hospitals for wounded soldiers are being maintained by private people in Shanghai, several of these being supported by substantial donations from members of the supervisory committees, while others are run by individuals at their own expense. In all cases, either a committee or a supervisor keeps a watchful eye on the management of the hospital.

At one unit comprising approximately one hundred beds, the woman in charge is a former honours student in economics, and she uses her ability to run the hospital both economically and efficiently. She spends all her time at the hospital, and her home and family rarely see her.

OLD HOUSE USED One of the big units of the Red Cross is supported and managed by Mr. Z. T. Chen, a building contractor and engineer. When hostilities began, Mr. Chen left his business to look after himself, and devoted all his time to running a private hospital.

About one hundred patients are housed in this hospital which boasts quarters for the staff, a small operating room and dispensary.

OPERATING ROOM Perhaps the pride of the place is the operating room. It is a well-thought-out structure, with huge skylights, and there is room for two units to work at the same time. A small room just inside the door has cases for instruments, sterilization facilities and necessary supplies.

In the grounds and well away from the main building are the kitchens, presided over by one of the head nurses who is also a first rate dietitian.

HIS LITTLE BIT

Mr. Chen regards this work as representing his share towards China's defence. He is prepared to spend $100,000 and when that is finished, he said he still has a few friends on whom he can depend for funds. Later, it may be necessary to call on the Red Cross for assistance, but at the present time he is quite capable of running the hospital on the resources at his disposal.

Mr. Chen's previous plans were to leave on a world tour in November, but he has chosen to utilise the money the trip would have entailed on humanitarian work for his country.

FOREIGN UNITS

Foreign doctors of many different nationalities, and Chinese doctors graduated from different foreign medical schools have also formed strong units. There is a particularly strong dental and surgical hospital which lends its assistance to other units when needed. Many of the prominent surgeons in Shanghai are in attendance there, and co-operation between different groups is building up a very fine record of medical service.

JUNK ROBBERY

Man Injured

Lai Cheung, aged 35, boatman, residing on board junk No. T254H reported to the police that about 2 p.m. on November 17, he left Pinghol bound for Salwamnei, Hong Kong, with a cargo of 29 pigs and carrying 18 passengers.

About 2 p.m. on the following day when the junk was at Ma Tat, in Chinese territory, a small fishing boat carrying five men men approached them from the opposite direction and passing at a distance of about 38 yards called on the junk to stop.

The junk refused to stop as a result of which the men on the small boat then opened fire on the junk with two rifles firing about 10 rounds.

A passenger, Kong Ma-hat, who was sitting in the stern of the junk sustained a bullet wound in the right thigh.

The small boat then sailed away in the direction of Pinghol, and the junk proceeded to Hong Kong arriving at Salwamnei (North Point) about 1 p.m. yesterday, and reported to the police.

The injured man Kong Ma-hat has been removed to Queen Mary Hospital and his condition is not serious.

ANTI-JAPANESE LITERATURE

Peking, Nov. 18.

Mr. Pan Yu-kwei, Chief of Police, has issued a proclamation reaffirming his orders against the distribution of anti-Japanese literature.

The proclamation says that lately many such posters and handbills have appeared which are contrary to police regulations, and are liable to affect the maintenance of friendly relations between China and Japan.

Reuter.

NANKING ALL ATTENTION

Nanking, Nov. 18.

The capital is humming with activity like a disturbed ant heap as the Japanese threat to the city looms larger, but there is no panic. Chinese quarters are of the opinion that the city will soon be the target for intensive bombing and contend that the Chinese Government is therefore moving out in good time.

Foreign consulates are handling the disposition of their nationals, but announcement of plans is being withheld pending further developments.

The streets are thronged with every available motor car, carriage and ricksha, carrying goods to the Bund and out of the capital by road. The Hsiakwan Bund presents a scene of very great activity with the roadway piled high with goods and baggage for the few available steamers.

Manchukuo's Adhesion To Anti-Comintern Pact

Tokyo, Nov. 19.

The "Nichi Nichi Shimbun" forecasts that Manchukuo is announcing adhesion to the anti-Comintern bloc on November 25, when the quintuple agreement will be published simultaneously in Tokyo, Berlin, Rome, Hankow and Burgos.

Reuter.

JAPANESE RECOGNITION OF FRANCO

Tokyo, Nov. 19.

A Foreign Office spokesman declares that Japanese recognition of Franco is most likely but the date has not yet been fixed and there is no truth in the Japanese press reports that Italy and Germany are contemplating recognition of Manchukuo. Japanese Government circles are not discussing withdrawal from the Nine Power Pact.

Lt. Col. W. T. O. Crewdson contributed no small share to the evening's entertainment and the item entitled "Given By An Expert" (with apologies to the Assistant Director of Medical Services), by Major C. E. Eccles was also of the first order.

The Misses Betty and Beryl Fair played their parts well as did Capt. S. J. Ritchie while Mr. Erik Nelson was in top form and had the house in a continuous roar of laughter. Others who contributed towards the fun of the evening were Miss Chappell, Mrs. Johnstone and Mr. R. I. Mackenzie.

THOROUGHLY RECOMMENDED

"Can Do?" is one of those concerts that one does not hesitate to recommend as thoroughly first-class. There were a few empty seats last night but one feels certain that when it is put on again on Monday night the theatre will be packed for it is so typical of Hong Kong to "wait until we hear more about it."

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT WORLD EXHIBITION

Paris, Nov. 18.

The proceeds of the last day of the World Exhibition, November 28, will be donated to the poor of Paris, according to a decision reached by the General Commissioner of the Exhibition. It is reported by the "Intransigant," which paper adds that on Thursday a total of 30 million people had visited the Exhibition.

AMBASSADOR NOT PRESENT

London, Nov. 18.

Lord Halifax will hold discussions, which will, however, not take on the character of negotiations, replied the Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, to a question in the House of Commons on Thursday. The Premier also announced that the British Ambassador, Sir Neville Henderson, would not be present at the discussions between Herr Hitler and Lord Halifax. He could only repeat that the visit of Lord Halifax was purely private and unofficial.
